Dear future ESC Volunteer,

Please find in the next few pages information about our organisation and our new European Solidarity Corps Project, which will host three young people (18-30 years old) as volunteers to be involved in intercommunal work, learn, participate and share their insights and experiences.

Through your participation in the European Solidarity Corps project carried out by the Association for Historical Dialogue and Research (AHDR) and Home for Cooperation (H4C), you will have the opportunity to experience Cyprus through a different lens, learn a new language spoken on the island, and bond with fellow ESC volunteer. You will make new friends and connections within your volunteering environment and beyond. You will significantly benefit AHDR and H4C, and the local communities with your action, whilst acquiring life-long skills and knowledge which will be beneficial to your professional and personal life.

This info-kit will prepare you for your ESC voluntary experience. It gives you the guidelines and information you need about expectations that the organisation might have for you and vice versa. This Info-kit is meant to support and prepare the future volunteers for the project activities. We would like to kindly ask you to carefully go through this info-kit and contact to the organisation for any further clarification.

Read the information below carefully and apply to be eligible for selection!

Best wishes,

The AHDR Team

AHDR – WHO WE ARE

The Association for Historical Dialogue and Research (AHDR) is a unique multi-communal, non-for-profit, non-governmental organization established in Nicosia in 2003. Since its foundation, the AHDR has enlisted members from various ethnic, linguistic, and professional backgrounds working at various educational levels in Cyprus, making the first steps towards a greater effort to maintain a continuous, open dialogue about enhanced pedagogic practices that could encourage the values of the discipline of history.

Our aims are:

- To ensure individuals' access and provide them with equal learning opportunities irrespective of their ability, ethnic and cultural background,
- To gather and make archival materials in the fields of history and peace education, and develop educational materials for educators and students,
- To create opportunities for educators, youth, and children to benefit from the latest developments in the fields of history and peace education,
- To encourage inquiry on issues related to history and the teaching of history, focusing on the development of critical historical thinking for the promotion of peace, stability, democracy and critical thinking.
- To promote communication and cooperation between persons and organizations interested in history and peace education at a regional, European, and international level.

OUR VISION

The AHDR envisions a society where dialogue on issues of history, historiography, history teaching, and history learning is welcomed as an integral part of democracy and is considered as a means for the advancement of historical understanding and critical thinking.

H4C – WHO WE ARE

In 2011, AHDR established the Home for Cooperation (H4C), a unique community centre in the middle of the dividing lines in Cyprus, the UN controlled buffer zone in Nicosia. The H4C works in the fields of arts and culture contributing to the civil society peacebuilding efforts. As a hub of cooperation, it hosts community actions and projects by local and international formal and non-formal groups, complementing AHDR's work towards intercultural understanding, respect, and social inclusion. Today the Home for Cooperation has become a landmark building in Nicosia, acting as a bridge-builder between separated communities, memories and visions through its physical presence and its peacebuilding programs benefiting from the transformative power of arts and culture.

The aims of the Home for Cooperation are:

- to facilitate and offer a space for initiatives that contribute to promoting communication and interaction between people from different ethnic, religious, or linguistic backgrounds at a local, regional, European, and international level
- to inspire and promote creativity among local and international artists
- to become a platform for cultural expression through diverse mediums
- to offer its resources to support cultural and educational activities that promote interaction, dialogue and freedom of thinking and expression.

OUR VISION

The Home for Cooperation aspires for positive societal change. It envisions a better Cyprus, characterized by peace, built upon the values of diversity, respect, equality, and human dignity.

European Solidarity Corps - Volunteering Project

European Solidarity Corps volunteering project will be carried out by Association for Historical Dialogue and Research (AHDR) and Home for Cooperation (H4C) for 10 months in Nicosia. Volunteers will be working from our offices at the Home for Cooperation, a unique, marvelous community-center that hosts and organizes numerous educational, cultural, and artistic events throughout the year.

The AHDR and H4C aim to host two young Cypriots and one international young person who are driven by a passion for history, education, and peace education. The project aims to contribute to the educational and research activities of the association. By the activities proposed, the AHDR and H4C would like its volunteers to be a part of the bridges built between the island's communities and help in the deconstruction of stereotypes through history and peace education and cultural activities. It is believed that those activities, will allow more and more people to develop critical thinking, to be open to listening to "the other", and therefore accept each individual as equal, while at the same time respect and appreciate their differences.

Activities implemented in the project:

- Organization of educational activities and/or cultural and artistic events
- Content and outreach development
- Assist in project implementation in the fields of history and peace education
- Conduct research, analyse data, and reporting
- Provide assistance with planning, designing, and implementation of events and trainings
- Networking and collaboration with local and international organizations
- Assist in the design and development of outreach content
- Assist in the execution of communication strategy

ABOUT NICOSIA

For a visual map through Nicosia click: Here

Nicosia, the last divided capital city of the world, is the biggest city of Cyprus and it has been like that since the 10th century. The old part of the city of Nicosia is surrounded by walls that were built by the Venetians in 1567. Now Cyprus has a population of 1,3 million people, with a blend of languages, cultures and international cuisines.

HOW TO MOVE AROUND IN NICOSIA

Buses is one of the most affordable ways to move around besides the bike that our organization will provide for free! You can find above routes for Nicosia and inter-city buses to travel outside Nicosia:

Mini buses to move around in the centre of Nicosia including the narrow streets of old Nicosia:

Big buses to move around in the City:

☞ <http://www.cyprusbybus.com/setup.aspx>

Buses for travelling outside Nicosia (Limassol, Paphos, Famagusta):

☞ <https://www.intercity-buses.com/>

You may also use one of the bikes at the Home for Cooperation to come to work, which is within a close distance to your accommodation.

We look forward to meeting you!
